Types of Account

Free accounts get email and, if in Zoology, the ability to edit your default web page on the departmental web site.

Member accounts cost $100 for 12 months. Additional charges will be made for consumables (e.g. pages printed). Members are entitled to use all Computing Unit facilities, such as the shared printers, and the hardware and software in the shared computing rooms. Members can create their own personal web page, and get backup service for up to 2 computers, disk space on the file server, full access to our UNIX servers, and use of our small computing cluster.
